

© Creative Commons

WOMEN WORKING WORLDWIDE

Supported over 5,000 women workers to move from temporary to permanent contracts.

Raised salaries by 12–25% in more than 30 workplaces.

Improved health, safety, and protective equipment for workers.

Trained 93 community leaders, who cascaded education across 60 flower farms in Kenya, reaching nearly 150,000 workers.

Get in Touch

We'd love to hear from you. Whether you are a company looking to improve and embed gender equality within your supply chain practices, an NGO or civil society group looking for a powerful ally, a supporter who wishes to donate or a funder who wants to empower women workers - please get in touch.

Women Working Worldwide

Caroline Downey
Executive Director

Telephone: +44 (0)7947808710
Email: caroline@women-ww.org
Website: www.women-ww.org

“WWW continues to punch above its weight”
Oxfam Novib,
NGO

535 Royal Exchange
Old Bank Street
Manchester
M2 7EN
United Kingdom

WOMEN WORKING WORLDWIDE

Fairness Dignity Voice

Our vision is of a world where gender equality is not a goal, but a lived reality for every woman worker. We believe that when women workers are empowered they lift up whole families, communities — and industries.

Who we are

We are Women Working Worldwide (WWW), a Manchester-based charity with extensive international experience. We work in partnership with companies, trade unions, NGOs and community organisations to improve conditions for women workers in agricultural, garment, and other supply chains across Africa, Asia, Europe and Latin America.

Why women in supply chains?

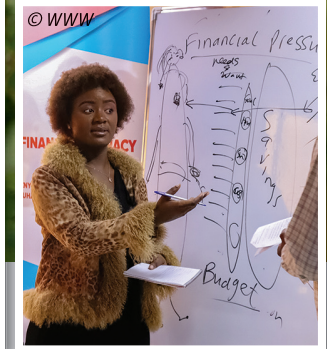

Because when women suffer, we all suffer.

Women make up the majority of workers in many agricultural and garment supply chains – yet their roles are often the most precarious, the worst paid, and the least valued. They face violence and harassment at work, unfair pay, poor health and safety conditions, and a persistent lack of voice and power to influence decisions about their own futures.

We know that when women are empowered they lift up whole families and communities – and industries. Better pay, education, health care, and workplace dignity ripple through generations. Brands become more responsible, industries become more stable, and societies become more equal. That's why we do what we do – because fairness for women workers is fairness for everyone.

"This education you have given us is better than money"
Flower worker Africa

"Their advice and guidance were incredibly insightful – and has had a lasting impression on our organisation" Food Company UK

How we work

Support companies to implement gender-responsive policies and practices.

Provide training on workers' rights and gender equality.

Develop programs and carry out participatory research alongside women workers.

Advocate nationally and internationally for policy change and strong legal protections

Provide resources and connect with workers' organisations across the world.